Presented With a Pin.

Virginia Council, American Legion of Honor, No. 264, had a grand social gathering at Donahoe's Hall Friday night. Professor Saunders furnished the music for the occasion. Grand Past Commander T. C. Morton was called on for an address. He began by saying he was glad to be with Virginia Council that night, and to say to them that they had taken in their council more members than any council in the State this year. He spoke at length of the object of the order, and said there was a prospect of order, and said there was a prospect of adopting a resolution which would pay a member one-half of his policy after he had arrived at a certain age. The speaker then asked the ladies to join the ranks, saying that it was as neces-sary for them to be members as their husbands.

Grand Secretary L. C. Davis then pre-Grand Secretary L. C. Davis then presented a beautiful pin to Mrs. E. C. Nauman, on behalf of Virginia Council. Mr. Adam Diacont, on behalf of Mrs. Nauman, gracefully accepted the honor. Dancing then commenced, and refreshments were served. The following were present:

VERY CLOSE SCORE

SPIDERS DEFEATED BY THE CHE-RUBS AT CHESTERFIELD PARK.

Superb Battery Work Was Done by Each Team, and the Collegians Could Not Get Timely Hits.

The ball game at the Chesterfield diamond yesterday afternoon between the erudite Spiders and the Hull-street Cherubs was as smooth as a seal-skin sacque in winter time. In fact, it possessed a slickness only equalled by the proverbial ecl.

Seven hundred people-one of the largest, if not the largest, crowd at a Quadri-City League game-witnessed the contest, and all present when the game commenced who knew a base hit from a passed ball knew that it was going to be a sort of pull Dick, pull devil ar-rangement from start to finish. Both clubs put excellent teams in the field. The College men had a splendid battery, with Johnson as pitcher and Hodges behind the bat. Phillips was on third, Bennett was doing the honors of short-stop, with his fluffy bangs swishing over more or less classic forehead, and was out in right field. Ellyson, usually tramples on the crickets of who usually tramples on the crickets of left field, has gone to the mountains to brush the cobwebs out of his brain. Lemons was in the pitcher's box for the Forest Hillites, and Zigler, the inimitable "coacher," on the first bag. Foster, who plays as steady a game as ever did a Kelly or a Ewing, was behind the bat, and Kain was down between the two last bases. last bases.

Johnson, who made his first appearance, is a man of strikingly handsome physique, and pitched an excellent game. been released. He was signed again by the manager of the Forest Hills yester-day, but before the pen was dipped into the ink Napler was made to understand that he was to play good ball, fair ball, and clear ball, or not play at all. The

that he was to play good tail, and and clean ball, or not play at all. The document was then signed.

The street-car company furnished better transportation than ever before, and delighted the patrons of the park, who want plenty of cars and fast transit. A couple of cars more could be added and used to advantage, and quick time was hit by the ball, went to second on Napler's sacrifice and scored on Tupper's single. In the same inning Burnett was hit by the sphere, went to third on Bahen's single, and scored on a slow

A fumble by O'Hara gave Foster his base in the third. He stole second and went across the plate on Lemons' single. In the fourth the score became tied, O'Hara going to second on a horrible fumble by Bradley. He went to third on Kain's bad throw, and went home on an error by Foster.

The two winning runs were then scored in the following manner: In the fifth an error by Phillips put Napier on first, who went to second on a slow fielded ball. An error by Burnett scored the run, In the seventh Kain reached second by a two-bagger to left, reached third on Nature of the second on a fumble by pler's hit, and scored on a fumble by

In the eighth the Spiders had a beautiful chance to score. A hit by Duke put him on first and a stolen base gave him second. Hodges struck out. Duke was advanced by O'Hara's sacrifice. Gary went to first on called balls, and went to second, while Duke was still on third. Then Johnson, instead of 'lining her out' for a three-baggor, went out at first by the work of an infielder.

umpiring of Mr. Clements was simply awful, and every member of our team was roasted terribly. Mr. Clements is a gentlement who knows how to do anything but umpire, if to-day's game can be used as a fair sample. Moreover, at the end of the ninth inning, when the game was a tie and we had only half an hour to catch the train, which had already, through the kindness of the railroad authorities, been held forty minutes, the home team insisted on us playing the home team insisted on us playing the home team insisted on us playing the game to a finish. I told them I would consent to do so if they would pay the expenses we would incur in laying over, which they refused to do. So long as we had extended them. The same contracts which they refused to do. So long as we had extended them the same courtesy over here in a tie game at Island Park I certainly think they should have done the same. I understand the game was awarded the Petersburgs by the score of nine to nothing, but I will undoubtedly profest."
